

NOTES AND NOTIONS

BY JOSH WINK.

THE WOMAN QUESTION.

Must I be a pro or anti?

Both to me with force appeal;
The arguments of each side
Make me quite strongly feel.
Must I, to protect my sisters,
And my own rights, claim a vote?
Or by equal rights asserting,
Fame of womanhood demote?

Shall I be a pro or anti?

Shall I, as the antis say,
Lose my charm and my influence
And what they call my sway?
Or claim an equal balance
In the making of the laws
If I bring more logic bearing
Then the ancient one, "Because?"

Must it be a pro or anti?

Must I be content to live
'Neath the laws I have no say in,
Take the rights they please to give?
Or declare for home and woman
Laws must recognize their right?
For upon that sacred issue
Will turn the real, true fight.

APPROPRIATE INVESTMENT.

"Do you want an investment which certainly fits in with the times?"

"Of course."

"Then why not take a flyer in aviation stock?"

A PROOF.

"Does your baby take after her father?"

"I am afraid she does. She is continually indulging in high bawls."

REASON WHEREFOR.

"Why did you name your dog Hamlet?"

"Because he is a Great Dane."

SIGNIFICANT.

"Why do people call this railroad the dairy line?"

"Because it is always being milked."

ASSURANCE.

"Dearest, will you love me when my locks are gray?"

"Yes, darling, as long as your keys are gold."

FRUITS OF LOVE.

"I must say, your fiancée is a peach."

"Yes; she is the apple of my eye."

JOSH WINK.